

International Res Judicata: Should Australian family law provide a second bite of the cherry when the first bite abroad was unfair or inadequate?

By Prof David Hodson OBE KC(Hons) MCI Arb | Michael Allum

08 Jul 2019

At the 17th Australian Family Lawyers' Conference in Fiji, David Hodson presented a paper, written with Michael Allum giving a global overview of the circumstances in which some countries will grant financial provision even though a divorce and financial order has already been made in another country. It asks whether the law should exist in other countries. Please click here for the full paper. ralian Family Lawyers' Conference in Fiji, David Hodson presented a paper, written with Michael Allum giving a global overview of the circumstances in which some countries will grant financial provision even though a divorce and financial order has already been made in another country. It asks whether the law should exist in other countries. Please click here for the full paper.

David Hodson OBE & Michael Allum

david.hodson@iflg.uk.com

michael.allum@iflg.uk.com

The International Family Law Group LLP

www.iflg.uk.com

© July 2019

iFLG

Hudson House
8 Tavistock Street,
London WC2E 7PP

Contact

+44 (0) 203 178 5668

enquiries@iflg.uk.com